EXCISE

Barksdale Hamlett came to see me. He is on his way to Germany, after having delivered four Kermit Roosevelt Memorial Lectures. While in Germany he will probably execute several more wild boar.

We dined tonight at the von Hofmannsthals. We took with us Anna and Paul Hoffman, who arrived today to stay with us at the house. Harry Luce is having meetings here, not only of his staff, but of some of his board directors, of whom Hoffman is one. The others at dinner were Loelia Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of TIME-LIFE, Luce, and one or two other friends. After dinner, Princess Aly Kahn, Antonia and Hugh Fraser arrived. It was all pleasurable.

Moon Murray, retired President of the Mellon Bank, whom I had not seen for some years, came to see me with his wife, brother and sister-in-law. They are on their way to Scotland, to visit members of the Murray Clan.

My old friend, Jack Kelly of Pan American, came to see me about the great Bahamas route to Jamaica, for which his company has been agitating. Representatives of the Bahaman government are presently in London, and are heartily in favor of the Pan-Am proposal. I told him I would discuss it with Caccia this afternoon.

Leo Welch and Mr. Charyk, Chairman and President of the Communications Satellite Corporation, came to tell me of the negotiations they are carrying on in Great Britain, looking to having the British take a share in this enterprise. What they had to say about their work was fascinating, including the practicability of shooting several satellites simultaneously in to space with a single propulsion.
